Signs Intensify Of Crisis In Far East

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Rapidly intensifying signs of crisis in the Far East brought new warnings of trouble today from both Burma and Thailand.

The Burmese government issued a warning against a possible Japanese offensive against the Burma road, "life-line" for military supplies flowing to Chungking.

According to a Reuters dispatch from Rangoon, the Burmese government made it clear Burma would regard such a move of immediate concern, even though it was conducted on Chinese territory.

Concern In London
The messages from Rangoon and Bangkok, which swiftly followed Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warning that Britain will wage war "within an hour" if the Japanese become involved in conflict with the United States, aroused concern in London lest Japan strike against the Burma, Thailand or both.

Demands Heavy Bombing Of Rome

(BULLETIN)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—A vigorous demand for heavy air bombardment of Rome was temporarily rejected in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill today.

The demand was made by Commander Sir Archibald Southby and Lt. Col. Sir Thomas Moore. Southby alleged Italian atrocities in Montenegro and asked why Rome had not been bombed in reprisal.

"Why is a hideout being provided for this rat Mussolini?" Moore asked.

Churchill said that Italy "will be hurt" whenever possible in accordance with the Royal Air Force's "long-term bombing plan" but declined to go further. Southby said he was dissatisfied with the answer and would raise the issue again later.

Defense Workers Stage Big Parade

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Some 20,000 national defense workers today paraded through industrial Pittsburgh to mark the 23rd anniversary of Armistice day, dedicated to the memory of the men who died in World War I.

But the steel mills will continue operations and in the nation's great manufacturing mills, arms and tanks will continue to roll from production lines as United States prepares for defense in World War II.

Leaders of the famed fighting divisions of 1917 and 1918 lead their men, who will share the day's spotlight with the contingents of Uncle Sam's newly formed draft army.

As United States Again Observes Armistice Day

Who will it be, where is he striding,
Is he under the sea, a submarine guiding,
Or hurling a plane through the Autumn sky
Watching terrain where bombs explode and people die?
Is he on the bridge of a hound of the sea,
Does he lie on a ridge, devoid of grass or tree?

Unknown Soldier II
Is he from Spain or Germany or Norway or France?
From Britain or Canada? Does he carry a Bengal lance?
Was his home on the Zuyder Zee or in Naples,
Or in Liege or under New England maples?

Who will it be, where is he striding,
Is there one who can see, is there one who is guiding
Another soul to a destined fate,
A marble tomb, and a raised bronze plate,
Where thousands will come to watch and gaze
Or place a wreath on special days?

Defense Board Rejects Lewis Captive Mine Union Shop Demands

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Declaring that the fate of free government rests upon the output of American steel mills, President Roosevelt today warned that any "individualistic interest" which interferes in the slightest degree with this objective must be "set aside."

The president's warning came as John L. Lewis was expected to order a new strike in the company-owned coal mines of big steel corporations after the defense mediation board turned down his request for a union shop in the coal pits by a surprising 9 to 2 vote. A tie up of the "captive mines" would seriously curtail steel output.

Decision of Board
After a week of deliberation the board recommended that the steel companies involved in the dispute sign the regular Appalachian agreement that is in force in other mines but without a union shop clause.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement, read to a meeting of steel industry leaders and government officials in Washington by OPM Director William S. Knudsen, said that the industry must produce enough steel for American protection and to "serve the Workers began their solicitation throughout Lawrence County today in the annual Roll Call of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, when a fund of $20,000 will be sought.

No Armistice Day Memorial Service For Heroes 'Over There'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Thirty thousand American soldiers who went to France with the A. E. F. are still "over there" today with World War II preventing even the simplest of memorial services for them on this—Armistice Day 1941.

They lie in graves in Nazi occupied areas of France and in the fields of Belgium. The American battle monuments commission in Washington is charged with the duty of care of the graves and arranging annual Armistice Day services.

Officials of the commission were asked what plans were made for this year. They shrugged. They did not need to explain that there is another war in Europe. They simply said that all of the graves of America's heroes of 1917 and 1918 are now in occupied territories.

John L. Lewis Calls Leaders

U. M. W. Policy Committee Is Called To Meet At Capital Friday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—On the heels of an oblique warning from President Roosevelt that "individualistic" interests which interfere with steel production must be set aside, John L. Lewis today called a meeting of the United Mine Workers' policy committee for Friday to decide if another walkout will be ordered in the company-owned coal mines of the major steel corporations.

Lewis' move coincided with a second step by Mr. Roosevelt—a conference at the White House with a Lewis lieutenant, Thomas Kennedy, secretary of the United Mine Workers' Union.

Associates of Lewis said he had sent telegrams to the various district presidents composing the policy committee, a move that must be taken before a strike can be called.

Mr. Roosevelt's warning to Lewis was contained in a message to a Washington conference of steel executives and government officials. It did not, however, mention Lewis by name.

It came after the national defense mediation board last night had turned down Lewis' demand for a union shop in steel company coal mines by a surprising 9 to 2 vote.

President Warns Grave Danger Is Now Facing Nation

Delivers Armistice Day Message At Tomb Of Unknown Soldier At Arlington

MUST CARRY ON BATTLE TO FINISH

Charges Every Citizen With Duty Of Seeing That Liberty Continues

By GEORGE DURNON

ARLINGTON NATIONAL CEMETERY, Va., Nov. 11.—President Roosevelt solemnly warned today that a danger confronts the nation at this time as grave as that which in 1917-18 caused thousands of Americans to sacrifice their lives for the preservation of their freedom.

Must Carry On
Delivering an Armistice Day message from the chilly heights of Arlington National Cemetery, with the unknown soldier's tomb as a poignant background, the chief executive charged every citizen with responsibility of carrying on to a finish the job for which the boys of the first World War died.

"They did not die to make the world safe for decency and self-respect for five years or ten or maybe twenty," the stern-faced president declared. "They died to make it safe. And if, by some fault of ours who lived beyond the war, its safety has again been threatened, then the obligation and the duty are ours."

"It is in our charge now, as it was America's charge after the Civil War, to see to it that these dead shall not have died in vain."

"Sergeant York spoke thus of the cynics and doubters. The thing they forget is that liberty and freedom and democracy are so very precious that you do not fight to win them once and stop. Liberty and freedom and democracy and prizes awarded only to those people who fight to win them and then keep fighting eternally to hold them."

The president was referring to a recent speech at Arlington of Sgt. Alvin C. York, outstanding hero of World War I.

Hitler May Proclaim His 'New Order'

British Believe Action Is Near

Would Be Move Seeking To Divert Attention From Russian Situation

PEACE MOVE IS ALSO SUGGESTED

BULLETIN
(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 11.—British authorities today declared there are indications Chancellor Hitler will soon proclaim his armies have made sufficient progress to permit inauguration of a "new order" in Europe.

They said the "new order" would be proclaimed at a conference, perhaps held at Vienna, to which the occupied nations and a few war-free European states would be invited to subscribe.

Aims of Proclamation
According to British authorities, the proclamation would have two aims:

1.—To divert attention from the "colossal cost and comparative failure of the Russian campaign."

2.—To try to persuade Britain that the moment is ripe for an "honorable peace."

It was declared that Britain's reaction of such a "quiescent force" already has been proclaimed publicly by Prime Minister Churchill, who reiterated yesterday that Britain never would make peace with a Nazi German regime.

NO PROGRAMS IN OCCUPIED LANDS

fire in 1918 there has never been an Armistice Day like this one. Even England found itself too occupied with the demands of the present war to observe the usual two minutes of silence and its people were not summoned to the Cenotaph in London's Whitehall to hear their king.

Hitler has ordered that the Armistice of the last war be forgotten or ignored. How well he succeeded as regards the individual will be a matter for future historians. But the methods taken to expunge this day from contemporary life were characteristic of their thoroughness.

Banned By Nazis
A strict interdiction was issued by the German military in Paris against public gatherings. Particularly, the people were forbidden to lay wreaths at the Arc de Triomphe. The unknown soldier buried there lay—for the first time in his death—ignored if not forgotten.

Throughout the length and breadth of France and Belgium

there are war cemeteries, hitherto carefully tended plots of ground with their serrated rows of little white crosses bearing the names and rank of Frenchmen, Belgians—and Americans—who lie at rest beneath them, their duty in a war to end all wars done forever.

American Cemeteries Closed

But only at Sureres, where assembled the few remaining members of the American chamber of commerce in France, was any tribute paid to them. The other American cemeteries remained closed to the public and under Nazi guard. Any individual wishing to drop so much as a petal on a single grave had to ask and receive written permission.

Severe punishment was threatened to any and all disobeying the Nazi decrees. And the apparent failure of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's appeal for a national manifestation in France a week or so ago in protest against execution of hostages at Nantes and Bordeaux bears witness to this.

Thus it was doubly cold and bleak today for the lads who fell in flanders before their crosses stood naked, unadorned. It was November 11, 1941, and there was another war—and other graves—to think about.

"In the downtown district, American and Red Cross flags have been placed on the street light standards, a reminder of the campaign; while a large page advertisement in The News today calls attention to the Roll Call. Both were made possible by friends of the Lawrence County Chapter at no expense to the chapter.

Between now and Thanksgiving Day, every business organization and householders in the city and county will be contacted, and in addition, the workers in the mills will be asked to contribute through representatives in each industry.

(Withdrawal of United States Marines from China, he added, "might be a good thing for China itself."

"To Intimidate Japan"
[Dispatches from Tokyo said the general Japanese opinion was that Churchill delivered his warning to intimidate Japan and stiffen the United States on the eve of Saburo Kurosu's arrival in Washington as a special envoy from Tokyo.

Meanwhile, Japanese Finance Minister Okunishi Kaya declared Japan plans to "force Britain and the United States to retreat from East Asia" and said that "the only thing we can rely on is our own strength."

Indicating the Far Eastern (zero hour) may be drawing nearer, the Rangdon dispatch said the director of news services for the government of Burma, a British colony, issued a special bulletin stating:

"Latest information from reliable sources indicates the possibility of an attack by the Japanese into Yunnan Province (in China, adjoining Burma)."

It is scarcely possible the Burmese government will regard such an attack as a mere extension of the "Chinese incident" to yet another front, as the Japanese will describe it.

The famed Burma road which winds into Yunnan Province is the major avenue for delivery of American and British war supplies to the Chungking regime and as such is important to American and British Far Eastern strategy.

According to Reuters, the official radio commentator at Bangkok, speaking in "impassioned tones," warned Thailand to be ready for "this year or next," and added:

"If we expect, at all, it could be only through the strictest adherence to neutrality, but we must be prepared to defend our neutrality."

the 10 merchant vessels sunk, one Italian destroyer had been sent to the bottom, a second severely damaged and a third taken in tow.

Three Were Sunk
Today's admiralty announcement stated: "It is now known that three Italian destroyers were sunk and two seriously damaged in the action November 9 in the Mediterranean."

"Following the action by Capt. Agnew's force, the remnant of the Italian Naval Escort was intercepted and attacked by submarines. Two destroyers were hit and one was sent to sink."

Capt. Agnew's force referred to in the communiqué was the squadron of two British cruisers and two destroyers that pounced on the double Axis convoy, sending the 10 transports to the bottom and out-fighting the heavier Italian naval escorting forces.

Huge Losses Sustained
Meanwhile, British dispatches said "thousands" of Axis troops perished and huge quantities of war materials and weapons were lost when the 10 vessels were destroyed by gunfire.

Reports from Alexandria said troops and war supplies aboard the 10 Axis transport vessels sent to the bottom off Taranto, Italy, had been destined to reinforce Gen. Erwin Rommel's Axis forces in Libya for an expected winter offensive against the Suez Canal.

Meanwhile, between 90 and 100 survivors from the sunken British destroyer Cossack were landing, indicating a loss of 119 to 129 members of the original complement of 219 officers and men.

The survivors, many injured and rushed to hospitals, were put ashore from rescue ships at an undisclosed port many hours after the admiralty announced the loss of the famed Cossack without giving any hint as to where or how the destroyer was sunk.

One of the survivors, acting Petty Officer Peter Beach, related: "We were picked up after being in rafts or swimming for some time. A half gale was blowing. I swam for nearly an hour. Then I saw a raft and climbed aboard."

cording to available information there has been very little damage to the graves of World War I.

Teh A. E. F. left 76,000 buried in France and Belgium in 1913, with little white crosses to mark their last resting place. In 1922, 46,000 of them were brought home in pine boxes. Many were buried in family plots; others in the Arlington National cemetery across the peaceful Potomac in Virginia.

Unknown Soldier
Before that, one of their number had come back on Nov. 9, 1921, the warship Olympia put into Washington with the body of an unknown soldier aboard. Two days later the unknown soldier was buried in Arlington cemetery.

Today, President Roosevelt and high army and navy officers made a pilgrimage to pay homage to the dead of World War I. There were solemn services arranged.

For the soldiers in their graves in France there is only silence and even that silence is shattered by echoes from the drums of war rolling across the long eastern front in Europe.

It also must maintain, the president said, "the industries absolutely essential to the functioning of our civilian life, as well as that of Latin America and every other civilized country in the world depending upon that commodity."

"The output of the steel mills serves as the backbone of the weapons, the tanks, the airplanes and the ships on which the fate of free government in this world rests," he said.

Ban Individualistic Interest
Without directly mentioning the coal dispute, he then declared: "We must set aside any individualistic interest which interferes in the slightest degree with this objective. The executives must, and I know they will, work with labor to meet this test of their resources, and I am equally as positive that labor will work with the executives, for that purpose is mutual—the protection of the lives and the homes of the American people and of every free home on earth."

The mediation board, after a week of deliberation recommended that the steel companies involved in the dispute sign the regular Appalachian agreement that is in force in other mines but without a union shop clause.

The decision was a momentary setback for Lewis' United Mine Workers Union. The bushy-browed CIO leader called one strike in September and a second in October to enforce his demands for the union shop, but called off the latter walk-out at the fourth request of President Roosevelt pending mediation board consideration.

Even before the board began final hearings in the dispute, Lewis set next Saturday as the deadline for granting of his union shop demand. In advance also, he won an agreement which had White House approval that whatever recommendations the board made would not be binding.

The board announced that it had voted 9 to 2 not to recommend a union shop but merely that a contract be signed by the UMW and steel companies providing recognition but not maintenance of membership in the union as a condition of employment.

Tank Attacks Repulsed
Still farther south two successive Nazi tank attacks in the direction of Tula, 110 miles below Moscow, were repulsed, said Tass. The agency reported fierce fighting in the southern suburbs of Tula, claiming Soviet units there were firmly holding their ground.

The high command communique likewise reported violent fighting on the approaches to Tula in a midnight war communique.

The war bulletin also told of "especially fierce" fighting in the Crimean peninsula, where Red army tanks, infantry and artillery supported by naval units were declared to be halting massive Nazi attacks on the outer defenses of the Black sea naval base of Sevastopol.

Soviet front-line dispatches also claimed the Germans had been halted in attempts to break through the narrow approach to the Kerch Isthmus in the eastern Crimea facing the Caucasus.

Nazis Lose Thousands
According to these reports the Germans were losing "thousands" of troops and great quantities of planes, guns and other weapons in their efforts to obtain control of the entire Crimea by capturing Sevastopol and Kerch.

Meanwhile, the action around Tula indicated the anticipated "final" German offensive against Moscow before winter sets in may already be under way.

Russian forces launched renewed counter-attacks on several sectors of the Moscow front, particularly around Kalinin and Volokolamsk.

(The London Daily Mail reported from Stockholm that mechanized Soviet forces "completed encirclement of large German forces" in the Volokolamsk area and that the Germans had been fighting desperately for two days to "break out of the iron ring.")

Again Driven Back
A Moscow radio broadcast quoting the newspaper Pravda said the Germans, under cover of immense artillery and mortar fire, crossed the Nara river about 40 miles southwest of Moscow and captured a village—only to be driven back with heavy losses by a smashing Soviet counter-attack.

The Germans were said to have been forced to flee back across the river.

In the Maloyaroslavets sector 60 miles southwest of Moscow, according to Pravda, a German infantry and tank attack met "stubborn resistance" from the Russians, who finally consolidated their advanced positions.

According to the midnight communique, Russian air squadrons Sunday destroyed 70 Nazi tanks, 23 field guns, four anti-aircraft batteries, 450 trucks, 17 armored cars, 50 motorcycles and "many" ammunition carts.

In addition, it was claimed, Red bombers "dispersed and annihilated" a Nazi infantry regiment and two cavalry squadrons.

Day address, Mr. Roosevelt brought up the question asked by so many: "What did it get you?"

Danger Confronts Nation
Again and again, he answered that question by recalling the grim realities of 1917 and the equally "terrible danger" which once more confronts the nation.

"Whatever we knew or thought we knew a few years or months ago, we know now that the danger of brutality and tyranny and slavery to freedom-loving peoples can be real and terrible," the president said.

"We know why these men fought to keep our freedom—and why the wars that save a people's liberties are wars worth fighting and worth winning—and at any price."

Know The Answers
"The men of France, prisoners in their cities, victims of searches and of seizures without law, hostages for the safety of their masters' lives, robbed of their harvest, murdered in their prisons—the men of France would know the answer to that question. They know now what a former victory of freedom against tyranny was worth."

"The Czechs too know the answer. The Poles. The Danes. The Dutch. The Serbs. The Belgians. The Norwegians. The Greeks."

"We know it now." The chief executive chided those who, because the war was won in 1917-18, have forgotten the circumstances which impelled Americans to fight them.

"If our armies of 1917 and 1918 had lost there would not have been a man or woman in America who would have wondered why the war was fought," Mr. Roosevelt gravely asserted.

"The reasons would have faced us to fight them."

ARMISTICE DAY

Today we join with the rest of America in honoring our comrades, living and dead, who fought in the first World War. It is sad to realize that the task we thought we had finished in November 1918 is once again before us.

Let us all firmly resolve that this time it shall be finished—That the freedom of our succeeding generations shall not again be menaced. That is the least we owe to those who so gallantly gave their lives in the last war.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DISCIPLINE MAKES FINE SOLDIERS

Vividly do I remember when, 23 years ago, I, Mrs. Myers and the two older children, then about three and five years of age, for an army cantonment during World War I. I learned some things during that war that I should like to pass on to the younger man in arms today, or the one about to be called.

I was 34 years old on entering the military service, and had to make a great many adjustments in my way of life.

I remember that as I was walking from the railroad station to the barracks, Prof. A. T. Poffenberger, now head of the Department of Physics at the University of Pennsylvania, said to me: "Garry, you are in the army now." He had been in the training camp for some weeks. "Try to forget yourself as an independent, thinking person. Find out as soon as you can the ways of the army, and learn to do as you are told."

Discipline And Obedience
"Forget your pride. You may have over you some officers who don't know some of the things you think you know, but just remember they know their stuff."

"The first principle here is obedience and discipline. No matter what we think about an order or command, we do it. Always what we are told to do is important, no matter what we think about it."

I began to get this advice through my little head a few hours later when I filled out a blank handed to me. I wrote into the spaces rapidly and carelessly, as I often had done as a teacher. I regret to confess.

First Reprimand
A sergeant soon returned it to me with a reprimand. I had signed my name that no one could tell whether I had spelled it Myers or Myers.

When my quarters were inspected on the second day I was reminded of several items of untidiness; reminders which secretly resented, but learned later to profit from. I was delegated that day to police the latrine and got a demerit for failing to pick up a matchstick. From that experience I learned to be more dependable on any assigned job, however humble.

Sometimes an officer so irked me that I hardly could contain myself. My training in psychology was not necessary to tell me that sometimes I was bossed just to inflate the ego of the boss. I got immediate relief from this when I was able not only to make myself do what I was told, but also see how funny some human beings can be.

Being A Good Soldier
The longer I was in the army the better I could see why strict discipline and obedience are necessary; that many annoying things are only due to the human frailties of an officer. Anybody with power over others is inclined to boss far more than he needs to boss. Is not the same true of us parents and teachers?

Being a good soldier is a serious business. The sooner you learn this fact, the more contented, effective and successful your experience in the armed forces of the United States will be.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Please recommend some books for the stuttering youth to read.
A. "The Stutterer Speaks" by Carl Wedberg; "Learning to be likable" by Garry C. Myers.

The "World Series" again resulted in a victory for the New York Yankees, but there have been a rabbit's foot concealed somewhere in McCarthy's baseball jeans this year.

Before the games started, the Yankee team was, of course, the great favorite; the betting odds were all very much in favor of its ultimate victory, and doubtless the best team did win—the team that could take advantage of all the breaks and in the last two games the Yankees certainly did get the breaks.

"Hard Luck" Fitzsimmons, who has pitched in four post Series games, was put out of the third game in a very unexpected manner. At the time of his injury, he was pitching as good a game as his opponents on the Yankees' team. Neither team had scored a run and Fitzsimmons might have finished as well as he had that far performed. No one, of course, can tell, but his injury was very ill-timed for the Brooklyn team. The fourth game was terrific. The last Yankee batter up in the ninth inning struck out. The umpire called him out, not seeing that the ball had gotten away from catcher Owen. The game should have ended four to three in favor of the Brooklyn team, but the Yankees were able to take advantage of the break and scored a couple of runs thereafter.

A Yankee baseball fan would probably say: "Luck? Nothing to it. Just good playing on the part of the Yankee and poor playing on the part of Brooklyn." But "Old Lady Luck" certainly was working for the Yankees.

All in all, each of the five games was a very well contested game and those Yankee "blow-hards" who were just going to eat up the Brooklyn team certainly were surprised to find that the Yankees had to work very hard and had the opportunity to take advantage of bad breaks for Brooklyn in order to win, at least, two of the games.

Some of these days the National League is going to again produce a winner—breaks or no breaks.

"I want to bring this canary back," a woman told a bird-store owner. "It simply will not sing."

"It should have a mate," said the store owner, who didn't want to refund the money for the bird.

"But I don't know if it is male or female," the woman confessed.

"That is simple," the man answered. "Get two worms, one male and the other female and put them in the cage. If the canary is male he will eat the female worm. If she is a female she will eat the male worm."

"Thank you," the woman said. And then a thought struck her. "How can I tell which worm is male and which is female?" she asked.

"I'm sorry I can't tell you that," the man said. "You'll have to find that out at a worm store."

TALKING TOO MUCH

"Don't you think it is a mistake to talk too much. You invariably get into trouble through gaining the reputation of either a gossip or a bore."—G. G.

Answer: It is usually so; however, it all depends upon your conversational technique. It is, indeed, an art to be both loquacious and entertaining. One of the most popular women of my acquaintance talks continually and yet attracts and holds around her groups of delighted listeners whenever she is at a social gathering. Last evening a group of her friends, discussing this talent, brought out the fact that since they have known her they have never heard her utter a "catty" remark about anyone or enter into any critical conversation. Any effort to involve her in gossip, even of the most innocent kind, has invariably met with failure. And she never talks about herself. Her conversation is almost invariably impersonal, giving her opinions of plays, movies, books, or radio programs she has enjoyed, or prominent personages she has seen or interesting places she has visited.

Question: If the bride's father is living but estranged from the family, must she omit "being given away" or may she have someone else perform this function? If she has no one to give her away what is the procedure of her going to the altar? Which side of the church is the bride's and which is the groom's side? I am wearing a bridal gown and veil.—B.

Answer: The bride may be given away by the next nearest male relative. If she will not be given away, she must walk in alone, behind the maid-of-honor. The left side of the middle aisle is the bride's side; the right side, the groom's.

Question: Are salads ever correctly served at a tea? (2) Is dancing permissible at a tea? (3) What time should one arrive when the tea is to be from three to five o'clock? (4) How long should guests remain?—Edna.

Answer: (1) No. The menu for a formal or informal tea should not include any foods other than beverages, cake and bread. Salads and other fork foods should be served only at receptions, where a more elaborate menu is permissible. (2) Yes. (3) At any time during these hours. (4) As long as they desire but no less than 20 minutes.

Copper Booked For Airing In Congress
Rea Claims Restrictions Of OPM Hart
Rural Electrification Project Halted

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Within the past month no less than four speeches have been made in the house of representatives by members complaining that the Office of Production Management, Bill Knudsen's emergency agency, has deprived the rural electrification administration of so much copper wire as to prevent completion of power lines for which pole already have been set and for which farmers already have purchased equipment.

"Uncle" John Rankin, co-father in the lower congressional chamber with Senator George W. Norris, in the upper branch, of the TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority) act and self-proclaimed leader of the representatives' public ownership bloc, says it's all a plot of his favorite bogeyman, the "Power Trust," to throw a crimp into governmental electrification.

So there's going to be quite a fuss about copper and the REA right soon. And when it starts there will be some red faces, not the least conspicuous of which will be those of "Uncle" John and Rural Electrification Administrator Harry Slater.

The reason is that at least one congressman, and I think there are several others, who, having received similar complaints from their constituents, have quietly investigated and stumbled upon some startling facts.

A few highlights in the bill of particulars include the following charges:

(1) That REA is guilty of hoarding a vast quantity of copper which it doesn't expect to use, for high line transmission, under two years. In a single instance 5,000,000 pounds were dumped recently upon a series of Texas cotton fields.

(2) That the copper will lie idle for two years because it is to be used to transmit power from a generating station not yet constructed—and it requires two years, in these days, to build a generating station.

(3) That meantime there are hundreds of miles of rural lines, complete and ready for service except for the smaller section lighter copper conductors used for distribution systems, and that the copper REA is holding for heavy transmission purposes could be put to immediate service for five times the distance in farm lines.

(4) That the heavy lines, when actually put in use, will hence not serve a single additional rural consumer, being designed solely to feed current to electric co-operatives now in existence, and whose wholesale rates already are among the lowest in the country.

Less specific allegations, which may call for a congressional committee's creation to dig into, include assertions of the utilization of dummy co-operatives, for which REA, in fact if not in legal effect, becomes a buyer of materials far in excess of the possible credit or possible use of such co-operatives.

Because of the shortage of copper and the shrinkage in the production of such items as electric refrigerators, washing machines, water pumps and water heaters, the Office of Production Management last July reduced, by executive order, (Continued On Page Five)

DECOY-PICKER

"Old duck hunters usually place their decoys in a way that will make it easy to pick them up at the close of the day.—Sports Page."

Oh, writer of that simple line, Once years ago the task was mine. Once years ago the playful boys Bade me to gather the decoys. Those wooden imitation things, With leaden weights and eight-foot strings,

To which the ice of winter clings. Once on a bleak November day, At dusk they sent me to the bay. Where but my sales all winter howl, To gather up the wooden fowl. And there half frozen through I stayed.

Till forty ducks by humans made Upon the small boat's thwart I'd laid. "To make it easy," now you say, "To pick them up at close of day!" Which makes me wonder do you know

How cold the human hand can grow? Had you been out in falling night With hair and eyebrows frosted white,

"Easy's" a word you'd never write. Once, forty years ago and more, I suffered off a wind-swept shore; And lived that hour of suffering dire.

Since when I've never quit my fire. Since then with perfect calm and poise, I shun the wild duck hunting boys And let them pick their own decoys.

Wild Sortie In London Streets

Man Goes Berserk, Shoots And Kills One Person, Wounds Nine

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A Scotland Yard "flying squad" car today dramatically cut short a wild sortie through the streets of London by a man who went berserk in a speedy sedan, shooting and killing one person and injuring nine others before he was brought to bay.

The police car suddenly rammed the sedan at the Watford by-pass near Edgware and the driver was taken into custody.

Police said the chase began in the Chiswick district of London when the unidentified driver of the sedan, armed with a gun, began to rear through the streets, firing at random at pedestrians.

Nine persons that he wounded, three of whom were women, were taken to hospitals.

The excitement began when the car drew up alongside Leslie Ludford, an attorney, as the latter was buying a poppy. Ludford was shot and killed.

The driver drove off, pursued by trucks and passenger cars. The driver sped around the neighborhood, wounding other pedestrians and then appeared at Ealing, still firing indiscriminately. He was last reported at Perivale. Fast police cars cordoned off and combed a large area in the search for the gunman.

NEW CASTLE STORE 'Family' Frolics

Company Entertains For 140 At Zelenople; Dancing Enjoyed

One hundred and forty employees and executives of The New Castle Store last night enjoyed the annual store dinner-dance given by the store management at a Zelenople hotel.

Dinner, served at 7:30, opened a course of events which included dancing, a lively song fest and games.

Harry Cullford, master of ceremonies for the night, presented more than 40 of the store personnel with merchandise certificates for outstanding performance in a recent store contest. The three team captains, Miss Edith Samuels, Ray McAuley and William Berkstresser, received consolation prizes.

The party, one of the most delightful ever staged by the store group, was planned by William Berkstresser. Cullford took over as "m. c." when the throng reached Zelenople. Aurora Ambrus was pianist for the singing.

Each fall the company sponsors the dinner-dance, while in the summer a picnic outing unites the store family.

Petain Receives Annuities From Canadian Firm

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—French Chief Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, a proponent of collaboration with Nazi Germany, is still receiving annuities from a Canadian insurance company, it was disclosed in the House of Commons today.

Questioned by Laborite Samuel Silverman, Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, admitted that Britain is permitting transfer of sterling in connection with a 600 pound ($2,400) annuity taken out by Petain in 1927.

Wood justified the transfer on the grounds that Petain is head of a state with which Canada still maintains diplomatic relations.

Silverman said the chancellor's admission would create "grave perturbation" through the country. He criticized this "exceptional treatment" for a man "who is working as hard as he can against the interests of Britain."

Stoppage of payment, Wood replied, would be "petty and without advantage."

East Brook High Observes Armistice

Students Present Program In Keeping With Day—Have Special Music

Students of the East Brook high school observed Armistice Day this morning with a special Armistice program presented in the auditorium of the school. Principal Ralph Watson had charge of the program with Miss Thompson directing the music.

Following the Scripture reading by Mr. Watson and the Lord's Prayer, the school sang "Faith of Our Fathers." As the clock struck 11 o'clock the assembly stood in silent reverence.

Two trumpet solos by Chauncey Dean Jr. were well received, and following this, Bart Richards spoke on "The Meaning of This Armistice."

Special music by the students of grade 5 and 6 followed after which the assembly sang the Star Spangled Banner and gave the flag salute. The school song closed the program.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Some 225 leaders of the steel industry met with government officials today to discuss defense needs for the vital product of 1942.

OPM Director William S. Knudsen opened the conference by reading a letter from President Roosevelt who said that "the output of the steel mills serves as the backbone of the weapons, the tanks, the airplanes and the ships on which the fate of free government in this world rests."

The Armistice Day meeting, symbolic of the government's determination to eliminate the concept of business as usual, is sponsored by OPM's iron and steel branch in an effort to acquaint steel leaders with the situation facing them and the country and to obtain ideas as to how defense needs can best be met.

OPM Associate Director Sidney Hillman, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson, Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr. and other officials were present.

Private William Dean, of the U. S. Air Service, is visiting during a 15 day furlough, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dean, of Becker street. He is attending Mechanical School in Chicago, and recuperating from a fractured finger.

Many State Posts Remain Vacant

Governor James Delays Appointments For Some 22 Important Jobs

FOUR CABINET PLACES ARE OPEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Gov. Arthur H. James is delaying the appointment of 22 persons to important state offices—positions carrying a total yearly salary of $218,000—despite the importunities of party patronage seekers.

The vacancies, created either by death, resignation or dismissal, range from high cabinet offices to personnel on commissions created by the last session of the state legislature.

From Cabinet Posts

Four cabinet posts are to be filled. They are the secretariats of health, revenue, property and supplies and military affairs.

The death of Health Secretary Dr. John J. Shaw created a vacancy for the $10,000-a-year post. At present it is filled by acting Secretary Dr. A. H. Stewart.

Property and supplies secretary Roger W. Rowland resigned early this fall to leave a vacancy in that department. Acting secretary Walter G. Scott fills the $10,000 post now.

Governor James dismissed revenue secretary William J. Hamilton, Jr. last summer from the $12,000 job, leaving the position temporarily in the hands of Walter J. Kress.

Brig. Gen. Robert M. Vail is serving as acting adjutant general pending the return of Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, called into federal service last February, the job pays $10,000 annually.

State Liquor Board

A vacancy also exists on the state liquor control board due to the appointment of Frederick T. Geider as chairman following the death of William S. Rial. Geider was a member of the board at the time he was named to succeed Rial.

Two vacancies also exist on the state milk control commission where Democratic member John J. Snyder is serving temporarily until his successor is appointed. The posts carry a $6,000 annual salary.

Another vacancy that the governor is called upon to fill is the directorship of the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation. Ernest Kelly, former head, was fired October 31. Although Governor James must nominate a man for the $9,000 position, his selection must be approved by the federal social security board.

Other Vacancies

The legislature, before it adjourned last July, passed two bills creating a three-member state civil service commission and an 11-man parole commission.

Civil service board members, yet to be appointed, will be paid on the basis of $25 a day and traveling expenses, while the parole commission carries a salary of $5,000 for each member.

In addition to the governor's appointments, two other high jobs remain to be filled, including a deputy state treasurer and A. W. P. A. administrator.

Col. Philip Mathews, former head of the W. P. A. who resigned at the request of federal authorities, is expected to be succeeded by Ralph M. Bashore, former secretary of labor and industry under the Earle administration. It is a federal appointment.

Decision Will Add To Cost Of Defense Efforts

States Can Collect Sales Tax On Materials Sold To Defense Contractors

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—In a decision which will add to cost of the defense program, the supreme court today ruled that the state of Alabama and other states can constitutionally collect sales tax on materials sold to defense contractors operating on cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.

The ruling was made on appeal of Alabama in two cases, both involving purchase of materials for use at Camp McClellan, Ala.

The high court reversed the Alabama supreme court which sided with the department of justice in its contention that the contractors were acting as agents of the government.

Since many states have similar sales tax laws, they can collect large sums in sales taxes under the decision.

Chief Justice Stone spoke for a unanimous court, except that Justice Jackson did not participate.

Two contracts were involved. In one the state demanded $1,372 sales tax from King and Boozer, Anniston lumber dealers, on lumber sold to Dunn Construction Co. and John S. Hodgson and Co., holding a cost-plus-fixed-fee contract to build a tent camp at Camp McClellan. In the second case the state sought to collect a use tax from the two companies.

"Congress had declined to pass legislation immunizing from state taxation contractors under 'cost plus' contracts for the construction of governmental projects," said Chief Justice Stone.

Thus, he continued, the only immunity that could be claimed would be under the construction. The government's argument, he said, is that the tax is invalid because its "legal incidence" is on the government—the contractor being a government agent.

"But however extensively the government may have reserved the right to restrict or control the action of the contractors in other respects neither the reservation nor the exercise of that power gave to the contractors the status of agents of the government to enter into contracts or to pledge its credit," the opinion asserted.

AROUND CITY HALL

When council meets informally to submit estimates required for the 1942 city government it is likely Public Buildings Director J. D. Alexander will recommend a stoker system for city hall. Council also must figure on raising money for the repairs at the city sewage plant which have been demanded by the state.

City of New Castle police have one two-way radio system in one police car. However, it has not yet begun to operate because a federal permit has not arrived. It is possible that Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen will recommend to Mayor Charles B. Mayne that all of the police cars be similarly equipped. Police radio dispatches go a long way toward capturing criminals.

Director of Safety D. O. Davies has not announced whether or not he will seek new fire apparatus. However, it is almost a foregone conclusion he will ask for some hose. Such is always needed and it is far better for the citizens to have good hose in all departments than to try and get along on old hose and then find in time of conflagration that "it might have been" as the saying goes.

How much property does the city own? The city has been renting some houses. The city owns a bundle of lots. A real estate boom has started. It might be profitable for the city to rid itself through sale of property to put the land back in taxation.

Roasts Shrink Less with a Modern Gas Range

That's important today. Low-temperature roasting will save you at least 20% in meat shrinkage, besides giving you a more evenly browned and tastier roast to serve your family.

The oven of the modern gas range is fully insulated, fast preheating and roasty—with a newly designed oven burner that saves time, saves fuel, saves food. A thermostat automatically controls the heat to the exact degree required and holds it there indefinitely.

You'll like today's Gas ranges. You'll wonder why you've gone along all these years without enjoying their many conveniences. They have automatic top burner lighting, giant burners that cook one-third faster, perfected smokeless broiler, extra thick insulation, and simmer-save burners to conserve vitamins and minerals.

Pleads Guilty To Wrecking Of Train

(International News Service)
SOMERSET, Pa., Nov. 11.—Eugene Morrison, 17, of Confluence, pleaded guilty today and was sentenced to White Hill Industrial School on a charge of malicious injury to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as the result of the wrecking of a B. & O. express train near Ursina.

Morrison was arrested October 5 and admitted he placed ballast on the railroad right of way, causing the wreck. No one was injured in the crash. Later, he denied the act, but FBI agents obtained a second confession last week.

Governor Creates Defense District

Lawrence One Of Nine Counties Included In Pittsburgh Defense District

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Gov. Arthur H. James yesterday announced the creation of a metropolitan Pittsburgh defense district comprised of nine western Pennsylvania counties.

The governor, acting as head of the State Council of Defense, designated the chairman of the county defense councils—members of the new district council, the second of its kind to be created in the state. The first was the Metropolitan Philadelphia Defense Council.

The metropolitan Pittsburgh district will embrace the following counties: Allegheny, Washington, Greene, Fayette, Armstrong, Westmoreland, Butler, Beaver and Lawrence.

In explaining the reason for establishing the new district, the governor stated:

"Defense organization in Pennsylvania has proceeded to the stage at which it now becomes essential that a metropolitan Pittsburgh defense district be established. This will expedite activities urgently requested by national defense officials looking to the creation of a force of air raid and fire wardens organized to handle emergency situations which might arise in that territory."

when DISASTER strikes

PESTILENCE, FLOOD, HURRICANE, FIRE, FAMINE
AND NOW WAR UNLEASH UNTOLD MISERY ON MANKIND

The "Four Horsemen" led by the "Frankenstein" of modern times, mechanized destruction, run rampant throughout the world. The shadow of WAR suffering threatens our America. The Red Cross is prepared to function instantly wherever and whenever the need arises. The Red Cross is the right arm of NATIONAL DEFENSE.

PREPAREDNESS ON THE HOME FRONT

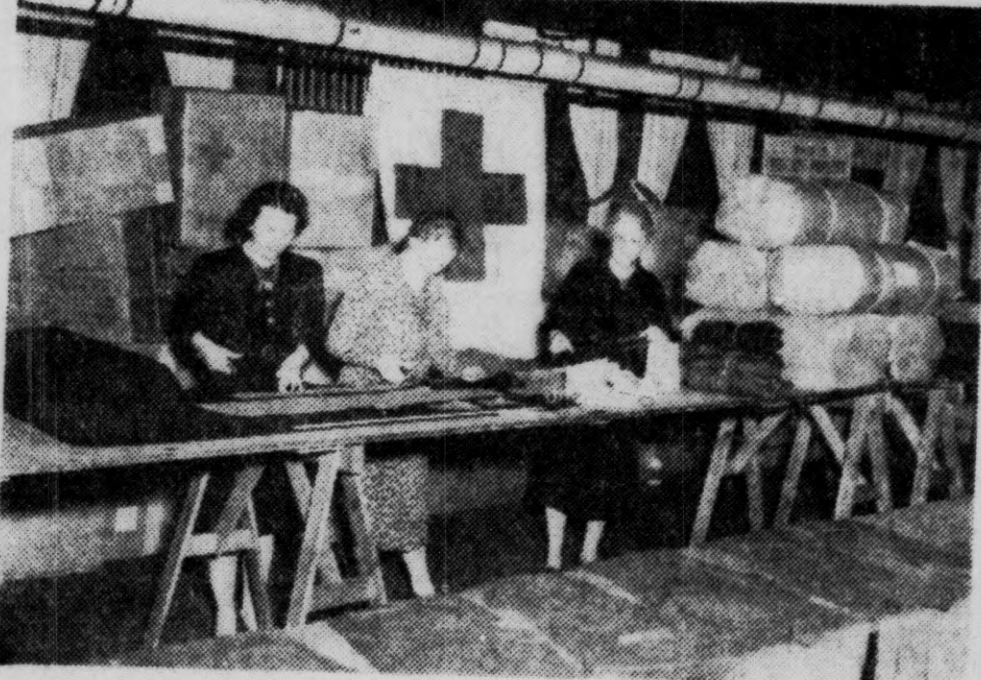

THESE PHOTOGRAPHS SHOW ACTION IN THE PROGRAM OF LAWRENCE COUNTY'S VOLUNTEER WORKERS IN SERVICE WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

The local home service office of the Red Cross has worked out the details of compensation for this young soldier—victim of a camp accident. By congressional charter, the Red Cross is designated as the agency for furnishing aid to sick and wounded in time of war, and to veterans of past wars. Now, the Red Cross functions as the "life line" between the boy in service and his home.

On the home front, in cooperation with the Office of Civilian Defense, the motor corps is being trained to facilitate local emergency demands. Training in first aid, safe driving and motor repair is requisite. At present, the eighteen volunteer members have an active schedule where, by one driver is on call at all times to furnish transportation needed in connection with all Red Cross services.

An important function of the Red Cross is to provide clothing for refugees in times of disaster and war. Members of the production corps busy cut, sew, knit and mend garments for those victims. To date, 23,925 garments have been assembled by the local volunteer production corps. The above photo shows a small portion of materials to be made up into garments to be shipped.

Volunteer home nursing is a vital part of the Civilian Defense program delegated to the Red Cross, along with first aid and home training. The strength of our nation's defenses depends upon the stamina of the men, women and children at home, as well as the vigor of the men in the armed forces of our country. Home Nursing volunteers are trained to care for emergencies in their own homes under the doctors supervision.

Largest youth organization in the United States, the Junior Red Cross has a membership of 18,000 in Lawrence County. This fall, these young workers have been enthusiastically packing 400 Christmas boxes with toys, soap, school supplies and washcloths for children in war-torn European countries. Each Red Cross supply ship crossing the ocean now carries some of these presents. It will be perhaps late spring before the last Christmas box is opened by some eager child.

Together, the surgical dressings corps and the production corps yield the greatest volume of work for the Red Cross. Surgical dressings and hospital comfort articles for use at home and abroad are assembled by large numbers of volunteer workers in every chapter. These supplies are either stored in emergency closets for use in event of disaster, or dispatched immediately to stricken areas.

Dies Committee To Accuse 20 "Key Men" In Defense Setup

Open Letter To Be Issued Soon

Accuse Some "Key Men" Of Being In Communist Front Organizations

SOME REPORTED IN INFORMATION WORK

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The Dies committee will soon make public the names of 20 "key men" in the defense setup whom it will accuse of being members of Communist front organizations, investigators disclosed today.

While they declined to reveal the names at this time or just what branches of the defense picture they fit into, attaches said several front organization members have been found in the new office of co-ordinator of information.

To Make Names Public

Present plans are to make the names public in an open letter to President Roosevelt. The officials will be charged with belonging to one or more of the many groups which the committee previously has labeled "Communist fronts."

The medium of a letter to the president was used before to make public similar charges against Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Later the committee sent a list of 124 names of federal employees in virtually every branch of the government to Attorney General Biddle, contending these people were members of such organizations.

Never Made Public

These names, however, were never made public. At the time this letter was sent, the committee declared that it had not then investigated the new defense setups, but would do so later.

The 20 asserted "key figures" were regarded as the starter to a longer list which will include many lesser employees whose names probably will not be made public.

Among organizations which it was asserted that the 124 government employees were affiliated with were the Washington committee for Democratic Action, the American League for Peace and Democracy, and the Washington Committee to Aid China.

While the investigators said that the new O.C.I. headed by Col. William J. Donovan, they said that Donovan himself was not named.

First Annual Art Exhibit For Lawrence County Artists Plans Are Progressing

Former curator of the Butler Galleries in Youngstown, Margaret Evans, a member of the staff of Youngstown College in the Fine Arts Department, will act as an advisory head for the New Castle Art exhibit, to be presented in the Castleton here, the last week of December.

The exhibit will make the first annual undertaking of its kind, and is creating much interest throughout Lawrence County. It is open to all artists in Lawrence County, providing an opportunity to bring their work before the public. Cash and defense saving bonds will be awarded as prizes.

Mrs. Cecil Dicks, president of the Artists League, is executive chairman of the exhibit committee. Aiding her will be Mrs. Russell Brenner, general chairman for 1941; Mrs. H. L. Stewart, hospitality chairman; Mrs. Frank Taylor, membership chairman; Mrs. William Fox, New Wilmington, public relations chairman; Mrs. Jack Davis, chairman of posters.

Neighborhood House Report For October

Americanization Committee Has Monthly Meeting In Y. M. C. A. Recently

Americanization committee met Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. with Miss Mary Riffer, president, in charge. An encouraging report was given by the treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Thornton, and the following report was made for October for the Neighborhood House.

Calls made numbered 57. Classes now in session are: Loyal Temperance, enrolled, 46; women's English class, enrolled, 25. Six of the latter class will soon take their final examination for citizenship. The entire class is interested in the affairs of our country and the sons of several are in the army.

Boys and girls of the Junior League are enjoying the singing and Bible story. The prayer group meets once each week. The Bible study class has begun the winter's work with Jean Butler teaching the "Life of Christ." Mrs. June Austin is the song leader and Sadie Othites, pianist. Material has been bought for the sewing classes. Beginners' class will open as soon as work is ready. A teacher is needed for the music class.

Neighborhood House folks were glad to receive 79 articles from the Needlework Guild, through Mrs. S. J. Callahan. The articles will be given to boys and girls needing them.

The Neighborhood House gave a demonstration of work done at the cabinet meeting of the Second United Presbyterian Sabbath school. Those taking part were the orchestra; Donna Dean Smith, president; Jean Butler, leading five of the boys and girls in a Bible drill; Christine Butler, worker, who told something of the work of the Neighborhood House.

Cards have been received from Miss Eleanor McDill, Miss Sarah Snyder, Edenburg, R. D. 2; patches have been received from Mrs. C. E. Book, and Sabbath school papers from the Second U. P. Sabbath school.

The contest or tour to the Holy Land being conducted by the Sabbath school will close about Christmas time. The boys class is far in the lead and several new members have been welcomed as a result of the trip. Anna Rozak, Sunday school secretary and treasurer, and Martha Joseph are the conductors of the trip.

President Gives Marines Praise

Sends Message To Entire Marine Corps On 166th Anniversary

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Roosevelt, who revealed last Friday that U. S. Marines may be withdrawn from China, on Monday told the entire marine corps on the occasion of its 166th anniversary that he was confident it would "live up to its proud record."

The marines, the Navy department said, have engaged in more than 200 armed landing operations since the branch was recognized by an act of The Continental Congress November 10, 1775. In the 166 years it also has been in action during 90 years in various expeditions.

Mr. Roosevelt sent the following message to Maj. Gen. Thomas Holcomb of the marine corps. "It gives me great pleasure on this, the 166th anniversary of the founding of the United States Marine Corps, to extend to the entire corps, through the Major General Commandant, my warm congratulations on its glorious record in the defense of our country during the full course of the nation's history. I am confident that the corps will live up to its proud record in the year to follow."

When the Marines were first organized, their strength was 1,200 men. At the outbreak of World War II, the corps had approximately 36,000 troops and its strength is now more than 60,000 officers and men.

Urges Banning Of Signboards On Highways

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Pennsylvania is urged to enact laws regulating the construction of signs and billboards along the scenic highways of the state.

Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman of the National Roadside council, said that "18 years of attempts" have failed to produce the desired results along the state's highways.

"Regulation by law is the only solution for the problem of disfiguring signs and the sooner Pennsylvania enacts the state highway zoning bill, introduced in the last session of the legislature, the sooner the highway system will receive the protection it so badly needs."

Secretary of Commerce Mark S. James also urged that road signs be abolished and warned that "unless this is done within a reasonable length of time, the department of commerce will be forced to back suitable legislation in order to control an intolerable condition."

Bell Man Reviews Defense Planning

Rotary Club Hears Manager Supply On Major Telephone Expansion

The job of providing adequate telephone facilities to a nation engaged in the greatest industrial race in its history was outlined to New Castle Rotarians in The Castleton Monday noon by Adrian D. Supple, local office manager of the Bell telephone Co.

He told his audience that as a result of national defense and related activities, demands for telephone service have never been greater nor come so suddenly from so many different places.

Planning Started Early

"If it had not been for the long-range planning of our engineers who design the telephone lines, buildings and equipment to allow for this growth, the Bell company would have been swamped before this," Supple said.

Another factor that has helped the company to meet the current demands has been the curtailment of its sales and promotional activities. "This conserves," he said, "telephone facilities for defense requirements."

In the talk the head of the local office cited numerous telephone construction jobs undertaken this year as a result of unprecedented defense demands. Supple described briefly the Bell concern's extensive

Humbert Auxiliary Dinner Tonight

Expansion Here Told

Briefly, the speaker told of telephone expansion in New Castle within recent months.

"The load of local telephone call in New Castle (handled by the local exchange) has gone up 18 percent; toll calls have risen 29 percent; five times as many telephones have been installed here this year as last, and the operator personnel has been increased 30 percent."

He said a major addition to the Bell building in Ellwood City, now under construction, will give that borough better service.

The Rotary club plans an attendance contest dinner in The Castleton Monday evening, November 17. No noon meeting will take place that day.

Members of the Humbert auxiliary will observe their sixth anniversary evening, in the King Humbert hall, Division street. A chicken supper will be served, and following the delicious meal, dancing will be the main pastime of the evening. In charge of the committee are: kitchen, Mrs. Dometta Smarrell; Mrs. Anna Marie Colucci and Mrs. Mary Ross.

MAN INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

George Johnson, aged 56 years, of R. F. D. No. 3, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital suffering with head injuries sustained when he is said to have run across the road at the intersection of the Pulaski and Wilmington roads, into the side of an auto, driven by Lester Bratschie of East Falls street Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Bratschie and Harold Sewall were on their way hunting after finishing their work, and had just turned off the New Wilmington road onto the Pulaski road when Mr. Johnson ran from the bus stop into the side of Bratschie's car, it is reported.

It was stated at the Jameson Memorial hospital that Johnson did not have such a good night but his condition is not believed critical.

Police To Enforce All Traffic Rules In City Tonight

Cars Must Be Removed From Parade Route Before Six O'Clock

SPECTATORS MUST STAY ON SIDEWALKS

Police Chief Willis G. McMullen has perfected plans for handling the crowd which will witness the Armistice parade tonight and he asserted that the regulations will be strictly enforced.

The parade will be headed by police cars and eight horsemen. City state motor police and firemen will handle the crowd. In some sections ropes have been stretched.

Those who witness the parade are to stay on the sidewalks. He said that no one will be allowed in the roadway because it will interfere with the parade.

He also ordered:

No parking of autos between 6 p. m. and 11 p. m. in Washington street between Court street and Diamond alley.

No parking of autos between 6 p. m. and 11 p. m. in Jefferson street between Washington street and Grant street.

"Any auto found parked in either street after six p. m. will be towed to a garage," the chief warned.

As soon as the signal is given for the parade to commence vehicular traffic will be prohibited from crossing Washington street between Diamond alley and Arlington avenue.

The chief declared that when a recent parade was staged, sight-seers crowded into the roadway.

"This will not be permitted to-night," he warned.

Pushing Drive On Sevastopol

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Nov. 11.—German and Rumanian troops are pushing steadily toward the Russian Black Sea Port of Sevastopol and Kerch, the Germans claimed in a communique today.

The Germans reported capture of 700 pillbox defenses and 1,200 prisoners. A large part of a Russian division was destroyed in northern Karkelia, it was claimed, while Moscow was plastered with bombs and Russian forces sustained considerable losses of heavy weapons and rolling stock in the Moscow area.

Hull Working On Far East Problem

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull and his far eastern experts today were fore-going the Armistice holiday in order to try to work out a formula that will prevent the United States and Japan from drifting into war in the Pacific.

With the next few weeks seen as one of the most critical periods in the entire history of American-Japanese relations, Hull and his aides are trying to find some basis on which the two countries can agree, tacitly, at least, to avoid a showdown.

The American government has virtually abandoned hope of reaching a general settlement with Japan in the Pacific, but officials still are hopeful that it may be possible to avoid war with the Nippon empire.

Bombs Are Hurl'd At Italian Band

One Person Killed And 49 Injured In Outbreak At Spalato, Yugoslavia

(International News Service)
ROME, Nov. 11.—One person was killed and 49 were injured yesterday when three bombs were hurled at the musical band of the Italian Cacciatori Alpine Regiment at Spalato, Yugoslavia, an Italian communique announced today.

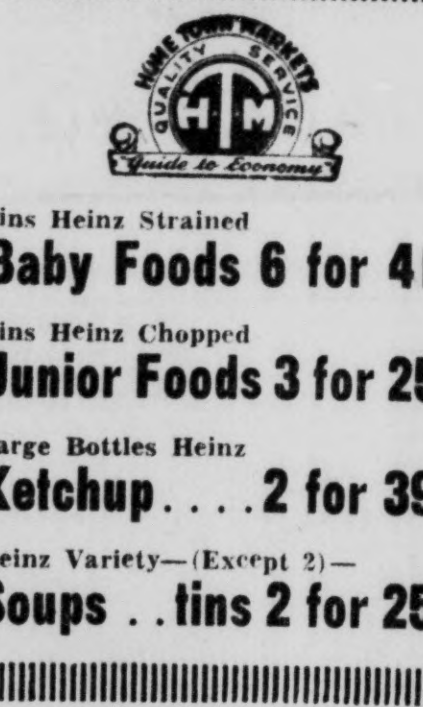

Twenty-four of those wounded were military officials while the others were civilians, the announcement said.

(A Reuters [British] dispatch from Vichy said the bombs were thrown at the band while it was en route to attend a ceremony. According to this account 23 soldiers were killed and one was injured while 25 civilians were wounded.)

Almost at the same moment, the Italian announcement said, a truck full of soldiers about to go on leave was machine gunned and a number of the men were wounded.

In accordance with orders from Rome, it was added, 150 well known "Communists" were arrested immediately and held as hostages until the guilty parties are discovered.

The story goes that when men in the sunken submarine Squalus were waiting for help, they read aloud "On The Bottom," the tale of a submarine rescue.

Mine Leaders Remain Silent

Await "Recommendations" By Lewis On Decision Of Mediation Board

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Pennsylvania's district mine leaders today remained silent on the national defense mediation board's decision against a union shop in "captive" coal mines as they awaited "recommendations" by their United Mine Workers president, John L. Lewis.

It was explained that there had been a general understanding that unless the union shop was granted, the mines would be struck November 15. It was thought highly probable that the steel companies owning the mines would probably attempt to operate them, under military protection, if necessary, should a strike be called.

Any orders in regard to the situation would affect U. S. Steel, Crucible, Weirton, Republic, Bethlehem and Youngstown Steel & Tube Corporations.

FACT

This newspaper prints many facts. You may or may not LIKE the particular facts it prints, but your newspaper must report, as accurately as it can, exactly what happens. For instance, a rainy week end may spoil a city man's picnic but save a farmer's crops. The paper may report the FACT of rain from either the farmer's viewpoint or the city man's. The FACT doesn't change—It DID rain.

OPINION

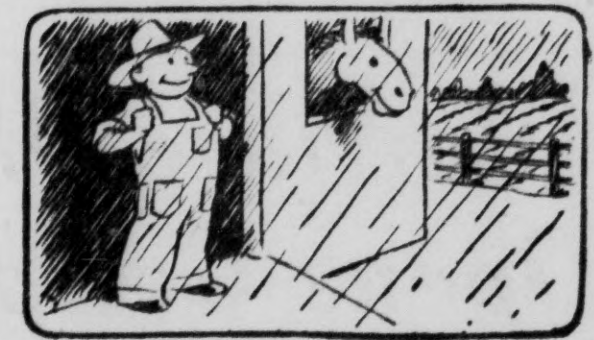

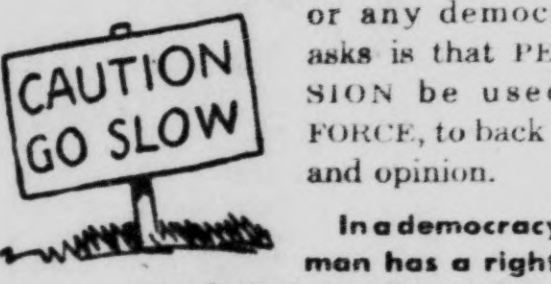

Suppose the weather experts predict fair weather tomorrow. That is OPINION. Not fact. But you want opinions, as well as facts. Or suppose some scientist PREDICTS that chemistry will replace farming and we'll take pills instead of eating beefsteak. That is HIS OPINION; right or wrong, you are entitled to hear it. The editor has opinions—everyone who thinks does—and everyone in America has the right and perhaps the duty to express sincere opinions and beliefs. Your newspaper is pretty careful to tell you the WHO, the WHERE and the WHY of the opinions it prints.

ACTION

Every American newspaper is simply PACKED with the doings of people who have put fact and opinion into action. All that America—or any democracy—asks is that PERSUASION be used, not FORCE, to back up fact and opinion.

In a democracy every man has a right to his own beliefs—and a right to convince others, if he can, by lawful and peaceful means, to agree with him. So our newspapers arm us first with many facts, second with a variety of opinions. Upon these

'Marriage Of Figaro' Opens Guild Season

With more than ordinary pleasure, and perhaps with a feeling of vindication, we wish to report this bright November afternoon that "The Marriage of Figaro" presented under the aegis of the Metropolitan Concert Guild Tuesday night in the George Washington junior high school as something to remember in the coming winter months.

The pleasure comes from an evening of music and comedy that was genuinely entertaining. The vindication comes from the fact that for many years this department has insisted that opera could be more enjoyed if the customers understood it. And "The Marriage of Figaro" proved it.

In English And Modern

The comic opera of the plight of Figaro the barber and his attempts to keep the Count, his employer, from poaching on his amatory preserves is in English, the costumes are modern and the stage bare save for a few pieces of furniture that served half a dozen purposes.

But the English lines (and some beautiful diction) made it possible for the audience to get the story, the evening gowns, white ties and tails brought the plot up to modern times and the skill of the narrator, David Otto, built up an imagery in your minds that dressed the stage.

A word about the narrator. Ordinarily he acts as a sort of toastmaster who introduces the characters and gives you a bit of the plot. David Otto went beyond this, in fact so far that at times he nearly stole the show. A timely sense of comedy, lines that reached out over the footlights and took you, and a speaking voice of unusual beauty built his part into a prominence such a part rarely achieves.

Streamlined Company

The company is a streamlined one, only enough characters to take the parts of importance, but the eight persons did a job of the comic opera.

John Tyers, as Figaro, highlighted the performance as Figaro should. In Tyer's case he has a voice that Nature and some good teachers have combined to build into a star. Remember the name for our guests as you'll hear from this lad.

The part of Susanna, Figaro's sweetheart, was taken by Helen Van Loon and the young lady was appealing both from a musical and physical standpoint. Cherubino, (a boy's part) was taken by Vera Weikel and she added to the worth of the cast. John McCrea and Gertrude Gibson had the parts of the count and Countess and acquitted themselves with distinction. Basilio, taken by John McCrea had the tenor part and a lot of the comedy, while David Otto, the narrator, doubled as Antonio the gardener, a part almost entirely comedy. The accompaniments were done by Max Walmer at the piano.

Excellent Opening

"The Marriage of Figaro" was an excellent season opener for the Metropolitan Concert Guild. It proves nicely, the promise of the president, W. W. Campbell, and the board, that this season would be tops. The opener proved it.

After seeing and hearing the success of this company, we want to suggest that the other operas could also be made enjoyable to the tired business man if they were presented in English. The success of "Marriage of Figaro" leaves the old school advocates with little ground upon which to stand.

BEN FRANKLIN HIGH WINS CHAMPIONSHIP 19-6

DeVideo Stars As East Siders Win

Ben Franklin Ends Long Wait For Title; Fine Crowd Sees Young Schoolboys Battle At Stadium Monday Night; Knight Tallies Lone Marker For Washington High; Final Game Of Season For Both Teams.

USING nothing but straight football, a hard fighting and fast charging Ben Franklin Junior High football machine won the 1941 Junior High championship of New Castle last night at the stadium by defeating a bigger Washington High eleven 19 to 6.

Franklin High eleven 19 to 6. Charley DeVideo, 128 pounds of dynamite and hard fighting and fast charging Ben Franklin Junior High football machine won the 1941 Junior High championship of New Castle last night at the stadium by defeating a bigger Washington High eleven 19 to 6.

Franklin Scores Early
The Franklin high team was not long in getting a touchdown. Knight kicked off for Washington and DeVideo took it on the Franklin 35 yard line. With Jacobs and Williams sparking the attack Franklin soon had the ball on the Washington 18 yard line after a fine run by Williams.

Charley DeVideo from the Washington 18 yard line outsped his field after racing around the right side of the line and tallied the first touchdown. Jacobs ran the ball over for the extra-point. Franklin 7—Washington 0.

Franklin High tallied again before the first period ended, with Williams racing 26 yards for the second touchdown after Ben Franklin High fumble by Clark. The try by Jacobs for the extra-point on a plunge failed. The first period ended with Franklin leading 13 to 0.

Scoreless Second Period
Both teams fought hard in the second period but could not tally. Franklin worked the ball to the Washington 26 yard at one stage in the second period, but lost it on downs.

In Ciccone Franklin High has a swell little punter and his kicks in the second period saved the Franklin team in two stages of the period. Knight the highly publicized Washington halfback was pretty well bottled up by the Franklin linemen.

DeVideo Runs 43 Yards
It was little Charley DeVideo late in the third period who gave Franklin its third and final touchdown. Knight punted to Franklin back on the Franklin 10 and the march began.

Jacobs a honey of a fullback raced the ball to the Franklin 26 for a first down. Jacobs picked up nine more yards. Jacobs made it a first down on the Franklin 41 yard line. DeVideo and Williams picked up another first down on the Washington 43 yard line. DeVideo then broke through tackle and raced for the goal line 43 yards away. Jacobs tried the extra-point on a plunge but was short of the line. Franklin 19—Washington 0.

The third period ended with Washington having the ball on the Franklin 13 yard line, but this was

Les Leasure To Battle 'Champ'

Diamond Belt Middleweight To Appear Here November 19

BENNY NEWKIRK TO BOX 'BUNNY' MISTO

Having keyed himself to a physical pink for a fight with Chet Williams, of Erie, only to discover at the last moment that Chet could not appear because of a rush of national defense work, Les Leasure is somewhat appeased today, having been matched by the Jefferson A. A. to battle Frankie Baret, Diamond Belt 160-pound star, here, one week from Wednesday night. Les hopes to show that he is one of the best middleweights in this district.

Benny Newkirk, the knockout junior lightweight, has been matched to box Bunny Misto of Youngstown. Newkirk has caused a fistic folk to pull up eyebrows because he has been turning over opponents with the same ease as the man on the flying trapeze.

Dunn To Attend Show
Benny Franklin, senior middleweight champion of this district's A. A. U. will fight Russell Baxter, who has been playing in hard luck. Russ was enroute to a knockout victory two weeks ago when a butt caused a cut above an eye and the referee stopped the fight.

Chuck Jackson, Diamond Belt 116 pound champ of the Pittsburgh district will oppose Ossie Pegese of Youngstown. International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—On the campuses (or camp) of Fordham and Texas universities heads are bowed among those who take their football seriously. Fordham has lost a game that seemed a cinch and Texas was held to a tie. All that talk of perfect campaigns is ended now for these two, as the one or two other clubs which boast perfect records in the top-flight national standings go ahead along the trail which so many travelled earlier in the year.

As soon as the results began to come in late Saturday afternoon, I scurried out of the office to obtain a professional football player's opinion on just why teams that should win sometimes lose and why teams that should lose sometimes win games.

The reason I looked up a professional football player is that he played his four or five years in high school, another freshman year then three varsity years at college and has played four years with the Giants of the pro league.

Anything Can Happen
Let's not get interested in his identity. The only thing we are concerned with here is how Fordham could lose to Pittsburgh, which hadn't won a game all season, and how Texas could play a tie with Baylor, which had lost three games in a row and tied another.

"You call it an upset," my technical advisor from the New York Giants said. "But those games were not necessarily upsets. I don't have to go back to my college career to show you that an over-confident team meeting a good tough determined underdog not only can lose but very often does. Reducing it to figures, the overconfident team has a let-down that reduces its effectiveness by some 25 per cent or so and the underdog has a lift of 25 per cent or so with its back to the wall. The result is an upset."

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports trail melody:

What additional honor can New Castle high gain by defeating Warren in the Washington campaign with 17 points? The Hurricane team can bag the most cherished prize among Pennsylvania high schools—the state football championship. Unless our figures are cockeyed, the localities are well out front in the race and will remain in that position, provided Warren is defeated. . . .

Because most Pennsylvania high schools play nine or ten game schedules, New Castle, with an 11 and 0 season, would be almost a cinch to be crowned kingpin of the scholastic world. Punksstunway, Erie East, Berwick, Millville, Leesdale and Bridgeville trail the "Canes," figures released yesterday showed. Saturday's game actually shapes up as a state title clash for the local eleven. . . .

So far as the Class AA WPAL championship is concerned, the coming tilt means nothing. New Castle completed its five-game league card by drubbing Scott. The gents who jostle around those figures are trying to figure things out. The crown winner will be known soon, now that most schools have finished their league schedules. . . .

In their first 10 victories, New Castle high's gridders piled up 173 points compared to 25 for the opposition. So far, the opposition has been unable to record more than one touchdown in any of the clashes. . . . Ellwood City high completed its grid season auspiciously, winning seven decisions, losing only to Allegheny and being tied by Butler high, 0-0. . . .

Football potpourri—Illinois hasn't beaten Ohio State at Columbus since 1929. The Big Nine rivals clash in the Ohio town Saturday. . . . Bob Zupke, the Illinois mentor is reportedly hearing the unwelcome call of the Wolves. He has been listening to the chirps ever since famous No. 77 was handed a sheepskin. . . . Wisconsin's second period touchdown against Ohio State, Saturday, reportedly came as a result of a "fifth down." . . .

Last week, a reckless New York bookie was offering odds of 5-1 that Texas, Fordham, and Duke would win. Any ties would count against him. Texas was deadlocked and Fordham was beaten. Is it tough to pick winners? . . . Mississippi State, Duquesne's opponent in Pittsburgh, Saturday, hasn't dropped a decision since Alabama won a 7-0 nod back in October 28, 1939. Since then, State has copped 19 wins against a pair of ties. . . .

PGA expects to expand its fund-raising for defense and relief purposes next year. Minnesota's Gophers named as nation's Number One college football team by Azzi Ratem

Local Grid Season Will End This Week
New Castle High Faces Herculean Task In Season Finale Against Warren

Determined to end the season triumphantly, four Lawrence county elevens are training diligently for week-end tussles.

The top clash of the week pairs New Castle high and Warren, O., at Taggart stadium Saturday afternoon. With 10 victories stuffed in the winning bag, the "Hurricane" bids for a clean sweep and the Pennsylvania high school championship.

Warren Strong
The Ohioans easily rank as the biggest hurdle to be confronted by the local edition. Studded with chunky performers who boast remarkable speed and drive, the Ohioans will take the field with one of the greatest combinations to ever flaunt Warren's colors.

Coach Bridenbaugh, who has done a remarkable piece of work in keeping his squad "up" every week, hopes that his proteges will reach their peak for the coming tussle. The head coach and his board of strategy, Paul Cuba, "Gig" Thomas and William "Bill" Klee are laboring assiduously to map out an attack that will halt the Warren team.

The "Hurricane" squad appears in fine fettle. The biggest gallery of the season will witness the important clash.

Westminster college rings down the campaign by facing Bethany college Saturday afternoon away from home. The Titans seek their fifth triumph of the season against three setbacks.

Shenango Away
Shenango Township high tackles Greenville high, one of the most powerful aggregations in Mercer county, Friday in Greenville. The Greenies reached their peak last week-end, spilling Sharpshooter. In opposing the Greenville smoothies, the local class B diadem winners face a class A foe with finesse plus. Bessemer high encounters Lowellville in the Ohio town on Saturday afternoon.

New Castle Gets Ready To Battle Warren Eleven

New Castle High Resumes Training Monday, Seeks Eleventh Win Of Season

WARREN TO PROVIDE TEST OF SEASON

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football team returned to the practice field on Monday afternoon for a light drill in preparation for the toughest game of the 1941 season on this coming Saturday when the powerhouse Warren, Ohio eleven will come to the stadium.

The locals will be gunning for their eleventh straight win of the current season and an undefeated and untied season. Warren will provide what is generally admitted as the toughest opposition of the year. Warren has lost to Massillon and tied Ryan High, winning all of the other games on the card including Canton McKinley and Erie Academy.

Cripples On Mend
The New Castle High crippled list is on the mend. No serious injuries were incurred in the Youngstown East game last Friday night, thus making it possible for Coach Bridenbaugh to put his full strength on the field at the start of the game. New Castle last year defeated Warren at the Ohio city 33 to 0. Warren will come here Saturday looking for revenge.

Tickets for the game have been placed on sale at the Sporting Goods Store. Warren will no doubt bring a large crowd here for the contest as the followers of the Harding High team feel that this is Warren's big year to upset the New Castle applecart.

Pennsylvania Boxers Win Monday Fights

There were some good fights last night and several Pennsylvanians won. Bill Speary, Naticoke featherweight, outpointed George Pace of Cleveland in 10 rounds of Toronto and Gene Pinter of McAdoo, scored a three round TKO over Charlie Rausch of Trenton, at Perth Amboy, N. J. Other results:

At New York—Tommy Tucker, 178, New York, scored technical knockout over Johnny Colan, 167, New York (8). Joey Fontana, 135, New York, decisioned Joe Silva, 134, Philadelphia (8).

At Baltimore, Md.—Pedro Hernandez, 124, New York, knocked out Tommy Forte, 119, Philadelphia (1).

At Providence, R. I.—Harry Jeffra, 128, Baltimore, Md., decisioned Joey Archibald, 126, Pawtucket, R. I. (10).

At Trenton, N. J.—Norman Rubio, 143, Albany, N. Y., outpointed Bucky Strotter, Haddonfield, N. J., Negro, (10).

John Allerdice, who quit Michigan as a sophomore, has entered Princeton as a freshman.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL
THE AMERICAN
Said Dan McGann, to a Foreign man,
Who worked at the self same bench:
"Let me tell ye this," and for emphasis,
He flourished a Stillson wrench.
"Don't talk to me of this BOURJOISSEE,
Don't open your mouth to speak
Of your socialists or your Anarchists
Don't mention the BOLSHIEVEK.
For I've had enough of this foreign stuff,
I'm sick as a man can be
Of the speech of Hate, and I'm tellin' ye straight
That this is the land for me.
If ye want to brag, just take that flag
And boast of its field of blue.
An' praise the dead and the blood they shed
For the peace of the like of you.
I'll hear no more," and proudly he bore
His wrench, in a forceful way.
"O the cunnin' creed, o' some Rummish breed,
I stand for the U. S. A.
I'm done with your fads and your wild-eyed lads
Don't flourish your rag o' red
Where I can see, or at night there'll be Tall candles around your bed.
So, tip ye hat to a flag like that,
Thank God, for its stripes and stars.
Thank God you're here, where skies are clear
Away from Kings and Czars.
I can't just say, what I feel today,
For I'm not a talkin' man.
But, first an' last, I'm standing fast,
For that that's AMERICAN.
So, don't ye speak of the Bolshievek,
I'm sick of that stuff, I am.
One God, One Flag, is the creed, I brag.
I'm boosting for Uncle Sam!"

Vital Decisions Comes This Week

Japanese Special Envoy To Confer At Washington During Week

NEUTRALITY ACT DECISION NEAR

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Washington this week will be the focal center of two events that may go far toward determining this nation's course on two oceans—the Atlantic and the Pacific.

On Wednesday, the house will begin a battle that will decide whether American merchant ships, armed with cannon and anti-aircraft guns, will be sent into war zones principally in the Atlantic.

A day or so later, a wizened little Japanese named Saburo Kuroki will arrive in Washington to reopen negotiations with this government for a settlement of differences in the Pacific.

It is conceded, even by advocates of the measure, that the bill lifting the war zones ban on merchant ships increase the sinkings in the Atlantic and move this country closer toward total war. But there is every indication that the house will approve the move, although opponents claim the action will be taken by a close vote.

Kuroki's reception, if official quarters can be believed, will be a cool one. This government has repeatedly made it plain that it intends to pursue the stiffest sort of policy in the Pacific, and that so far Japan's overtures have not gone far enough in making concessions to the United States.

As Kuroki nears this country, both Britain and the United States are indulging in a series of moves designed to make it clear to Japan that a thrust at hard-pressed Soviet Russia will not be tolerated.

Milk Mixture For Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lutin from their druggist. Gaston Park Groundhog Retires For Long Sleep

At the animal house in Gaston Park, it has taken two weeks for the hibernation sleep to overcome one of the big groundhogs, states Owen Fox, city forester.

In the first stage, the big fellow would sit up and drowsily eat his food, holding the pieces in his paw, and would occasionally lazily fall over. Later he would half emerge from the hole in his den, pulling his food toward him. For the last few days, the animal would appear at the den aperture, feed around with his paws for his provender, then draw it into his habitation.

Saturday, the ground hog was fed, along with the animals and birds in the house, but the former had his den entrance plugged up with leaves, having gone into hibernation.

Last year at this time, the weather was cold, but he was out almost every day for his food.

The groundhog in his wild state, is liable to go into hibernation, at an
